Here at New Haven
The year belonged to us:
To win, to lose, to cry, to laugh.
Doing was ours.
We produced our first musical, "Brigadoon,"
We conquered teams in sports, and speech;
We grew in knowledge and number.
We were. . .
Anxious,
Ready,
And
Eager to build for tomorrow and
Be part of

The Involved Generation

Students interview Mr. Allen Bloom (front), Indiana Senate Majority Leader, on the television show, "Youth Asks." Panel members are Pete Mallers, John Summers, Mr. Michael Bonahoom (assistant principal), Mr. Dick Rice (moderator), Cindy Clause, and Betsy Goehring.

Principal Maynard Henwood holds the microphone for Christy Darnell who tries to sell play tickets on the 8:05 morning announcements.

Students take active roles in community

The 1,400 New Havenites were assets to the Fort Wayne-New Haven community by serving as Sunday School teachers, candy strippers at local hospitals, and camp counselors.

At Thanksgiving and Christmas, New Haven clubs and students sent baskets of food to needy families in the area. The NJROTC unit marched in the Veteran's Day Parade.

New Havenites aided dental research when the metal shop made monkey cages for dental experiments.

New Haven students performed many services for the community, but most of these were learning services that aided in each student's growth.

Mary Nichter studies election posters for the NHHS mock National Elections.

NHHS spirit soars with great teams

With a winning team goes winning spirit. New Haven had both in 1969. For the first time the Gym had sellout crowds. Just about everyone was New Haven all the way. And in the minds of most students, going to a basketball game was more important than studying for a test.

Pep sessions became less frequent because nobody needed a pep session to get pep for a game; it was just there.

A bare wall was an uncommon sight at NHHS, as well-wishers plastered the corridors with signs of encouragement, signs of advice, and signs just to wish the teams good luck.

A familiar sight at every New Haven game, the spirit bone was constantly aloft.

At a Sectional pep session, Mr. Schilling, judge, hugs Queen of the Joust, Mr. Stephan.

New addition to the Sectional faculty pep session was teachers wishing team members luck.

"Miss New Haven," Kathy Poorman, receives tribute from varsity cheerleaders.

Miles and miles of purple and gold crepe paper and even more tape adorned cars, trucks, and floats in the annual NHHS caravan to the Coliseum.

Vicki Morris finds a drink of water is hard to get in crowded halls and short time.

A few of the injured that walked the NHHS halls are Brad Fisher, Steve Yates, and Ed Foss.

Short feet, wide feet, skinny feet, and flat feet came to NHHS in 1969 with new ugly shoes.

Bill Colderbank gives his sister Kathy beginner's lessons on how to tie a man's tie.

Leah Garwood wears bell bottoms and Bev Hege a leather vest, all new for fall 1968.

Crutches new fad at NHHS

Everything from classes to clothes changed at New Haven in 1969. New Havenites were willing to try all the new fads and fashions. Instead of the old loafers, girls wore ugly shoes with buckles, bows, and flat toes.

It was girls with ties and boys with longer hair. The new things were bell bottoms instead of tapered slacks and shirtwaists instead of shifts for girls.

The new trend that was distinctively New Haven turned out to be broken legs and ankles which brought casts and crutches to the halls of NHHS—and got some students out of class early every period.

All eyes are on the cheerleaders waiting for the Homecoming bonfire to be kindled.

Outhouses, diving boards, picnic tables, and bleachers helped make the Homecoming bonfire.

Rain gods dampen kindling for pre-Homecoming bonfire

Rain kept the Homecoming bonfire from burning Oct. 2, but Oct. 3 New Haven had its first daylight bonfire.

Friday started with a Homecoming pep session where Homecoming queen candidates Leah Beuscher, Joyce Oehler, Debby Springer, and Jackie Ulm were announced. Underclass attendants were junior Kathy Taylor and sophomore Linda Burczak.

The juniors' float "Chew Um Up" kept up the tradition of winning first place. Pep Club's float was second, with the Sophomore Class third.

New Haven won the football game against Frankfort for the first time in the history of three Homecomings with a score of 46-7. Queen Leah Beuscher was announced at the game.

A dance featuring the Fewdle Lords finished off the evening. At 10:30 p.m., 3,000 balloons dropped on dancers from a bag attached to the ceiling of the Girls' Gym.

Homecoming queen candidates were Debby Springer, Linda Carl, Leah Beuscher, Joyce Oehler, Jackie Ulm; Homecoming attendants, Greg Harper, Steve Hobrock, Ken Stout, Jeff Stout, Ted Wall.

At the Homecoming dance, balloons dropped on dancers from a bag attached to the ceiling.

Tommy Albright (Mark Chapman) captures Fiona MacLaren's (Elaine Snyder) heart when he sings "Almost Like Being in Love."

After their wedding ceremony, Jean MacLaren (Carol Baker) and Charlie Dalrymple (Jon Sharer) dance to the wedding music of "Brigadoon."

Doug Beatty becomes Archie Beaton when Trudy Pensinger grays his hair before the play.

Four sell-out crowds view first musical

More than 2,640 persons saw New Haven's first musical, "Brigadoon." The new addition to New Haven was a complete sell-out in the high school auditorium Nov. 21, 22, 23, and 25. Work started on "Brigadoon" two weeks after the opening of school.

This was the first time a New Haven production was presented by the entire student body. Students became actors, builders, singers, and dancers, under the direction of Mr. Milton Sinn, Mr. Carl Nicholas, Mr. Dennis Benson, and Mrs. Julia Tracy.

The 29-piece orchestra directed by Mr. Ron Best was a combination of volunteers from the Band. All backstage work was done by seven student committees.

The costume committee had last-minute trouble when the rented costumes got lost on the way from Philadelphia to New Haven. After two days of trying to find the costumes, they appeared at Baer Field.

Not believing he is in "Brigadoon," Jeff Douglas (Jim Schmidt) asks Meg (Christy Darnell).

Wondering who belongs where, strangers and citizens of Brigadoon stare in disbelief.

takes plunge in school life

In the second year the Naval Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps became an integral part of New Haven.

An NJROTC unit of 42 second-year cadets marched in the New Haven Homecoming Parade and were on performance in the Fort Wayne Veterans' Day Parade.

The 128 cadets received three different uniforms at the beginning of the year. They wore one of these on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Classroom lectures were given by Lt. Col. Robert Krippner. The first-year cadets learned modern warfare and naval history, while the advanced classes studied the more complex fields of seamanship and navigation. Chief Chester Dodd instructed the classes in marching and rifle skills. In the early fall, the cadets were taught elementary life-saving techniques by Mr. Don Huml, science teacher.

Cadet Lieutenant Commander Pete Mallers tells second-year cadet Reed Romanowski to straighten his tie during one of the inspections of the NJROTC.

Future NJROTC activities are formulated by staff officers at their regular meetings.

Glenn Leach and Mike Roper strive to become first class swimmers during the first NJROTC life-saving program taught in the warm days of early September.

The posting of the colors by NJROTC was an added feature of all home basketball games.

Second-year NJROTC cadets improve their marching skill during drill practice.

Two students attend Texas science fair

Scalpels, probes, and forceps were familiar words to zoology students. These tools were common to the nine week's lab where fetal pigs were used in operating practice, while biology students dissected frogs.

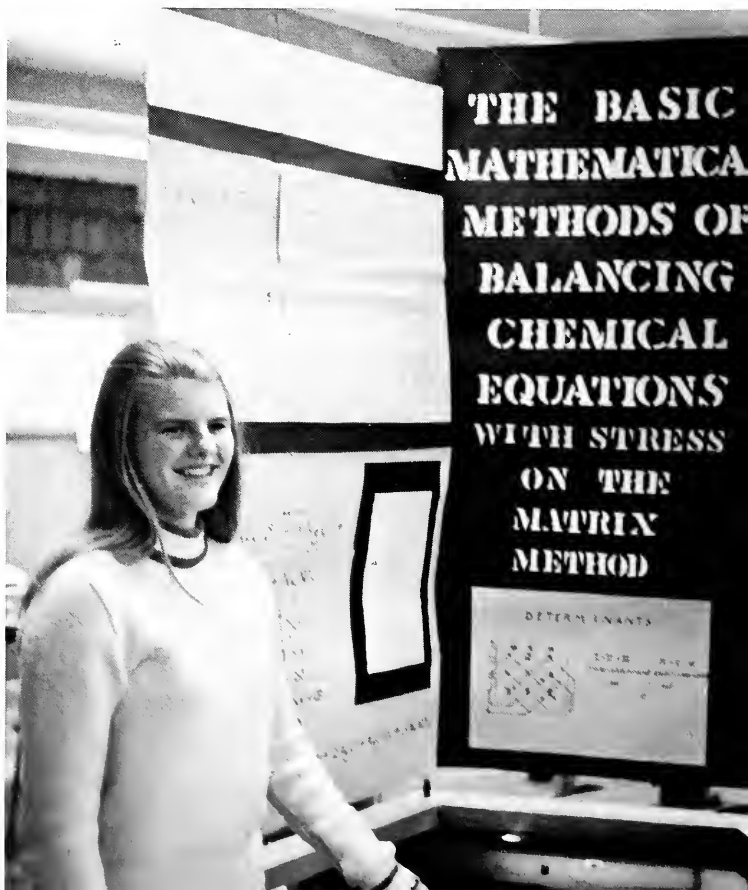

Projects were required for all science students. Bob Humphrey and Janet Marshall were chosen to represent NHHS at the international science fair in Fort Worth, Texas. Bob's project was continued from his 1968 project for investigation of the teapot effect. "The Uses of Matrix in Balancing Chemical Equations" won Janet the right to compete at internationals also.

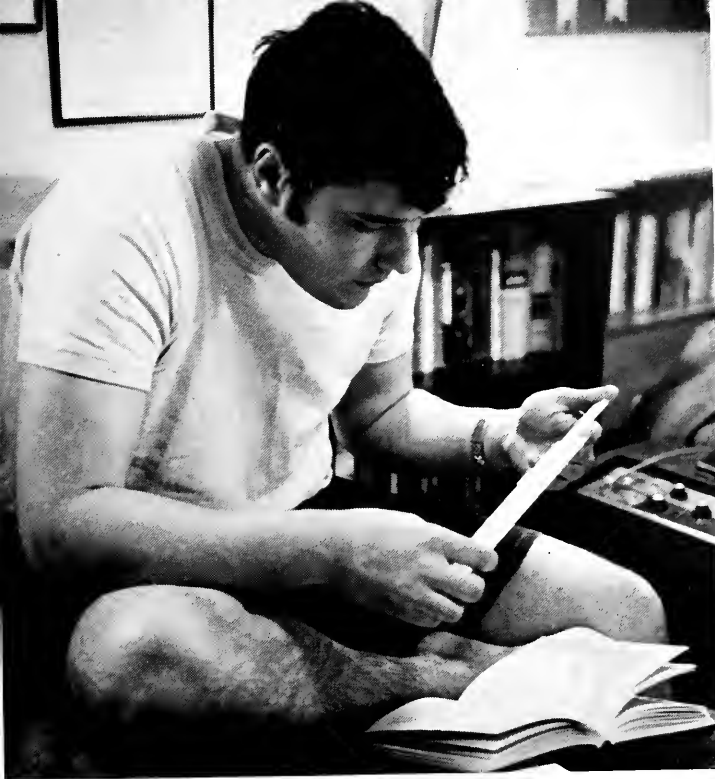

Algebra classes, were taught the whys and hows of equation solving, while lectures and private study were introduced to trigonometry students to sharpen thinking power.

Attending her first science fair junior Jan Marshall placed first in the math division earning her the right to compete at the Texas International Science Fair.

"Breathe in" is Mr. Huml's instruction as Becky Huffman tries to save a "dummy's" life.

Using his slide rule to solve trigonometry problems at home is senior Mike Harnish.

Taking pottery that has just been fired out of the kiln are Dave Waikel and Mrs. Franke.

Arts classes give school cultured air

New Haven's art and music departments provided culture for the school and the community with their concerts and original creations.

The beginning art classes decorated the halls with self-portraits drawn from their mirrored reflections. They also painted still-lives of plants and designed fire prevention posters for the annual competition.

The advanced art classes made wall hangings and stitcheries, silver and wood jewelry, wood sculptures, and block printings. In the fall the advanced classes made collages from useless litter and called their creations "A Walk in Schnelker Park."

To learn a new score of music the Band used many techniques but mainly it was repeating the song until it sounded good.

The approach used by Choir to learn a new song was different from the Band's. The Choir tried clapping, dancing, and talking with the songs to achieve the correct rhythm.

The main goal in both Choir and Band was to gain a sense of accomplishment and learn the basics of music theory.

Sue Sams waits for just the right time in the score to play the xylophone.

Law classes make court appearance

This take is at 100 words a minute for three minutes . . . Ready . . . Dear Sir . . . This is familiar to shorthand classes preparing for dictation. Increased speed was the goal of all shorthand students.

In other areas of the business department, over $10,000 worth of electric typewriters alone are used daily by students. They operate rotary calculators, 10-key adding machines, transcribing machines, and fluid and stencil duplicators.

Steno-lab girls spent three periods daily in an office situation, while Clerical-lab students spent two hours daily in the lab.

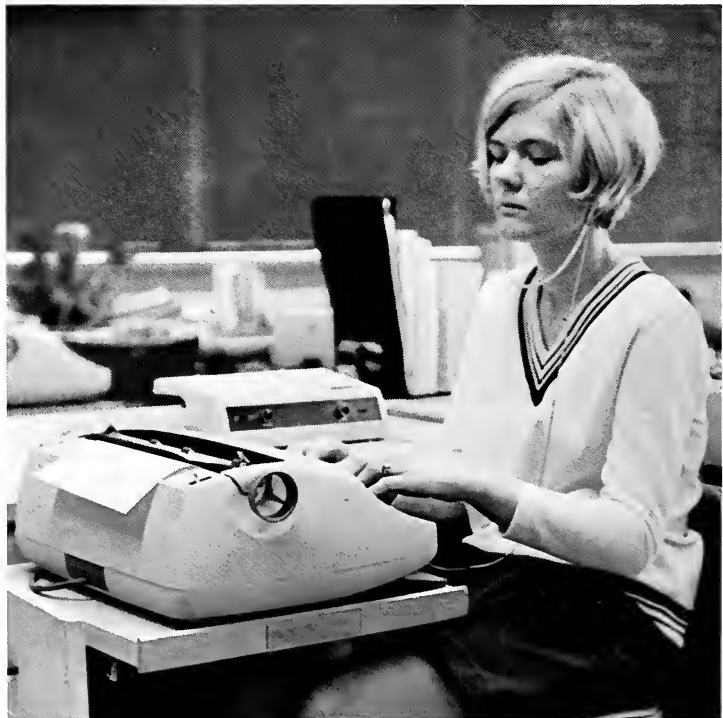

The requirements for the Steno-lab are a minimum typing speed of 55 words a minute and a shorthand speed of 80 words a minute.

Business law classes took a field trip to the Fort Wayne Circuit Court where they witnessed an actual criminal trial. Sergeant Charles Meeks showed a film and spoke to the classes, warning them about the dangers of narcotics.

Transcriber Sue Hinrichs listens to automatic speed tapes then types the message.

Debbie Jackson carefully listens to a tape as she transcribes letters in Steno-lab.

Erasing errors is a common sight in typing classes, but Brenda Shaffer finds erasing a ditto with a razor blade causes even more problems in machines class.

Jay Melcher files credited account slips for safe keeping in bookkeeping class.

In preparation for the model United Nations in world history class, Denise Jackson does research to represent the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Lincoln (Kathi Williams) looks on in horror as Abe (Mike Minglin) is assassinated by John Wilkes Booth (Ted Oetting) in U.S. history class.

While studying Indiana government Karen Claypool, Ed Benedict, and Jeanette Wick compare Indiana with other states on the United States map.

Abe's death replayed in U.S. history

World affairs, city structure, and foreign policies entered the social studies classes in 1969 to give history, psychology, and sociology everyday importance.

The mock United Nations in Mr. Zapp's world history class discussed everything from Red China, Russia's invasion of Czechoslovakia, and the situation in the Middle East.

To solve the problems of school and community, a model city came into being in sociology classes. Racial disturbances, urban renewal, and bus transportation were some of the community's problems. Students filled positions of mayor, councilmen, school board, and interested citizens trying to solve issues.

Government and U.S. history classes studied aspects of the November national elections whose results coincided with the NHHS mock election's victory for Richard Nixon.

NHHS languages come alive with foreign embassy aids

Outside materials added to practical knowledge gained in New Haven's foreign language classes. Pictures and maps from foreign embassies were used to bring cultures to life.

Second- and third-year French classes emphasized the colloquial language to keep up with the French that is spoken in France. Magazines and tapes were used to give the students background information, and conversations were memorized. First-year classes practiced live situations by acting skits and playing games.

Listening to taped conversations with headphones was a new way to practice German. Students listened to series of conversations, then tested their knowledge of the tapes by repeating the conversations.

Although Latin has been considered a dead language for several centuries, inquisitive Latin classes investigated Roman culture and language through translations, independent study, and projects.

Metals class builds cages for research

Aiding medical science, metal shop made research restraining units for monkeys having experiments done on their teeth. In return for aiding the IU Medical Center the NHHS welding class got free material and a new metal shear.

Architectural drawing classes earned 45 blue ribbons for blue prints sent to the annual convention in Indianapolis. After making the blueprints these classes made scales of the model homes. The model homes were on display at the NHHS model home show May 14 to 16 for the students to judge.

Advanced food classes made a budget for a young married couple, based on real salary for an 18- or 19-year-old couple. To continue this project each girl made plans for her ideal kitchen which included everything from the wall paper design to the stove that would best suit her needs.

Girls in home nursing learned to take patients' pulses, make hospital beds, and feed helpless patients. They also used the cooking room for two weeks and prepared soft and liquid diets.

The girls in child care went to nursery school classes and taught children games. The girls also learned how to take proper care of a baby.

Demonstrating the proper way to feed a baby Debbie VanCleve makes sure to hold the baby's head slightly up.

Required NH gym classes offer hidden advantages

While doing push-ups, boys in gym class try to arch backs, flex elbows, and straighten knees.

Even though gym classes are required, they do offer hidden benefits. Go-getting young males build up muscles through strenuous exercises, while diet-conscious females work away extra pounds by burning calories in organized group games.

In boys' physical education, a nine-week gymnastics course involved tumbling, parallel bars, and stunts on the trampoline. They combined outdoor weather with learning by playing flag football and softball.

Interpretative dancing was added to the girls' physical education curriculum to encourage individual coordination. Girls divided into groups and worked out dance routines to music.

In the spring, both the girls and the boys classes tested their knowledge and physical ability by taking the President's Physical Fitness Test.

A group of girls in gym class do a routine on their interpretation of the record "Charades."

Girls practice touching their toes, a basic exercise in all gym classes.

On the way up from touching her toes, Debbie Hanley "reaches for the stars."

Exodus joins Caesar on reading list

The books of Exodus and Leviticus joined Julius Caesar and The Red Badge of Courage as the newest addition to the English Department.

Biblical Literature started its first class in January. Class members studied passages from The Bible, which made it possible for them to write themes on subjects from evolution to the American idea of God.

In October during National Newspaper Week, the journalism class visited the Fort Wayne Newspapers building to see a paper put to press.

Linguistics, a new method of learning grammar, was introduced in some English III classes. Exercises were practiced to develop skill at identifying parts of speech.

The English V classes found that writing the first chapter of a novel involved false starts, wasted reams of paper, and much hard work.

Penny Larson explains to her English IV class the status involved with the seating in the galleries of a Shakespearean theatre.

Val Oliver plays the role of the everyday housewife as she demonstrates the technique of making peanut butter sandwiches in sophomore speech class.

While visiting WANE-TV, journalism students hear News Director Ken Kurtz explain the use of a camera designed for news reporting.

Extra hours of outside study and research are necessary to complete Grammar XII term papers. Kevin Tolliver spends another Saturday morning at the public library.

Harriers add 6th in state to record

New Haven's hustlin' harriers battled cramps, blisters, colds, the elements of nature, and the clock, but came out with flying colors in 1968.

The Bulldogs won the NEIAC championship and ended up sixth in the IHSAA State Finals in Indianapolis. In addition, Coach Everett Cass's crew sported a 13-2 record in regular season dual meets.

Earning letters were seniors Donn Treese, Ted Cameron, and Geary Hoepfner; juniors Dan Koonce, Kerry Hoepfner, Rick Clark, and Joe Shull, and sophomore Bob Muth.

Treese turned in the best time of 9:24 at the two-mile course at Havenhurst Golf Course in a dual meet with Bishop Luers.

Treese was elected captain at the end of the season and was the top New Haven runner in the state meet with a 15th place finish. Geary Hoepfner was the first Bulldog across the line in the regional placing seventh.

Seniors Geary Hoepfner (83) and Ted Cameron (80) cross the finish line in the NEIAC meet that the Bulldogs won for the second year in a row.

Gridmen overcome injuries; Win first Homecoming game

With 10 lettermen returning, the 1969 Bulldog footballers built a respectable team, despite numerous injuries to key players.

The gridders posted a 4-4-1 record and racked up three wins in NEIC competition.

The victory over Frankfort was a milestone in two ways. It was the first Homecoming triumph in its three-year history and the 100th varsity football victory in the history of the school.

Senior award winners were Denny Becker, captain and best offensive lineman; John Clem, best offensive back; Jerry Chapman, best defensive player; and Randy Reifsnider, best mental attitude.

Reifsnider, Becker, and junior Rob Davis won berths on the all-NEIC second team line. Junior Ed Nix was selected to the third team backfield.

Juniors Ed Foss, Steve Bruce, and Brad Fisher were lost for the entire season because of injuries. Chapman and Reifsnider were injured during the season but came back to play later on.

Clem led the team in points scored with 25, followed by Nix with 21 and senior Dave McHenry with 18.

Bulldogs post 19-4 record; stun Trojans

The 1968-69 New Haven roundballers took a seven-game winning streak into the final game of Fort Wayne Sectional II, hoping to stretch that string to eight and win the school's first Sectional title. However, the hopes, the streak, and the season ended that night as old rival North Side downed the gallant Bulldogs 69-58, much to the dismay of the enormous New Haven cheering section.

The quick, aggressive hoopsters of Coach Jerry Mitchel scored many an impressive win during the season. One such was a 64-62 win over Elmhurst in which the Bulldogs had to outscore the Trojans by eight points in the final quarter to nip the 10th-ranked team in the state.

Senior Dave McHenry led the team in scoring with 435 points, followed by seniors Al Lahr (394) and Ross Gick (309).

A 70-point offensive average and a defensive average of 64 points helped the Bulldogs to claim their 19-4 season, tying the school record for best record in a season.

Bowling Club formed at NHHS

GAA sported teams in basketball, volleyball, and gymnastics. The latter competed in a meet at Muncie and later attended a clinic in Wabash. Although they didn't score any points in the meet at Muncie, GAA sponsors Mrs. Pat Martin and Miss Charlotte Clark said the team worked very hard and did a good job.

Mr. Sam May was again the head of the Intramural program. This year league action included basketball and football. Seniors Denny Bradtmiller and Chuck Peters were awarded service bars for participating in IM sports for three years.

New Haven's Bowling Club was organized by junior Rod Van Zant. Mr. Gerald Isch was the faculty adviser. Bowling Club met for two hours at Hillcrest Lanes on Monday evenings. Senior Tom Ropp had the best average of 153.

‘Vic’ the Bulldog newest addition to NHHS spirit

Pep Club and Boys’ Booster Club helped raise New Haven’s spirit in 1969. New cheers, signs, and purple and gold shakers contributed to the excitement of all ball games.

In October the two clubs combined their talents and made the float, “Dog Eats Dog,” which captured second place in the Homecoming float competition.

Last summer, varsity cheerleaders attended a Vincennes University workshop. At the end of the two weeks, the group brought home the second place trophy for competition.

This year, New Haven had its own live mascot, “Vic” the Bulldog, played by Stan Taylor. Sponsored by Pep Club, “Vic” became a reality after riding in the Homecoming Parade. “Vic” made such a hit that he was allowed to remain and become an official mascot at all NHHS games.

Three sophomores place in state NFL ratings

New Haven's National Forensic League attended 14 speech tourneys in 1969 and brought home a total of 76 ribbons.

NFL changed its format by adding the impromptu division and changing the old radio division to television.

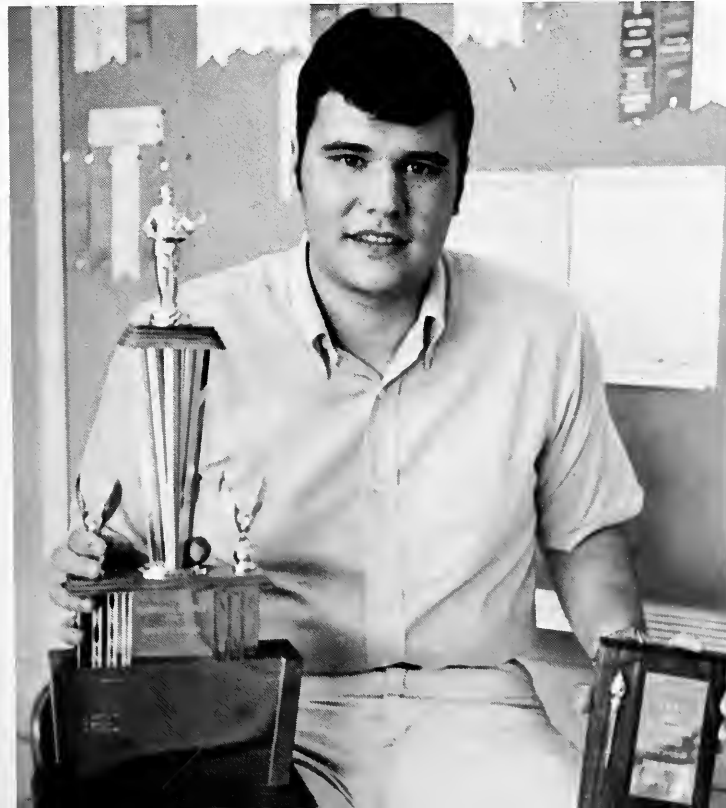

Mike Harnish, president, had his name engraved on the Campbell Trophy as the only NFL member to earn over 500 points in three years. Mike was also awarded a plaque for being outstanding speaker in the opinion of the sponsors.

At the state speech tourney April 12, three sophomores were the only ones to place. Diane Jackson won sixth in impromptu, Kathy Kelly sixth in girls' extemp, and Ron Ringenberg second in impromptu.

In the final NFL state ranking New Haven was named ninth in the state.

Kathy Kelly, extemp, pastes her 12 NFL ribbons in a scrapbook for future reference.

Mike Harnish, NFL president, holds his awards for outstanding speaker, earning 500 NFL points in three years.

M&G actors take ship to Paris in annual play

Masque and Gavel's old model T truck pattered along in the Homecoming parade as the first M&G project of the school year.

They continued to work on the one-act plays, No Greater Love and Suitable for Charity, that appeared at various community functions during the year.

December brought tryouts for the three-act play Our Hearts Were Young and Gay by Cornelia Skinner and Emily Kimbrough. The play ran March 6 to 8 in the Auditorium. After Saturday's performance Christy Darnell had a cast party for Masque and Gavel members.

M&G's first ticket banquet of the year after the three-act play featured the humorous Francis Awards given for "achievement" during the course of Our Hearts Were Young and Gay.

The second banquet, May 7, was to honor seniors and initiate new members.

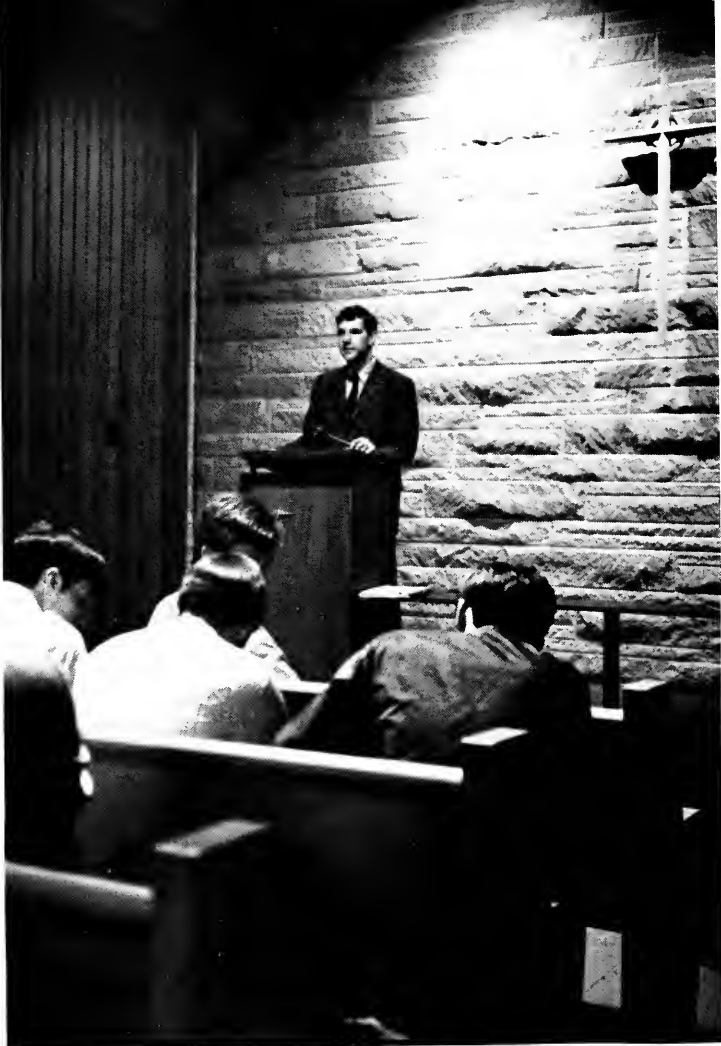

Before the 8:15 performance, make-up committee members transform students into actors.

Just before leaving the ship to enter Paris Cornelia (Christy Darnell) develops a case of measles. Emily (Elaine Snyder) solves the problem by powdering Cornelia's face to "fool" the French officials.

NHHS clubs donate gifts for needy

Both Hi-Y and Y-Teens worked with the local YMCA and YWCA as service organizations for the community. Together the clubs made Thanksgiving baskets and delivered them to needy families.

Hi-Y sponsored the NHHS Easter Assembly. The speaker, the Rev. Frank White of the First Presbyterian Church of Fort Wayne, compared the musical, Hair, with the teenager's search for meaning in life.

Y-Teens made telescopes for the Saint Mary's School to raise money needed to keep the school in operation. The girls also collected buttons and needles to send to Haiti.

Five boys in Hi-Y attended the model legislature in Indianapolis April 5. Two delegates earned higher offices for the NHHS Hi-Y club than were ever earned before. Greg Harper was appointed chaplain of the Senate and Lynn Stroble, assistant bill coordinator.

The girls finished the year with an April 24 senior recognition banquet at Halls' Smorgasbord. Nancy Meyer was elected top senior by fellow club members.

The boys closed the year in the same manner with a picnic at Hodel Acres May 18.

New photo silhouetted pictures add to theme

The New Haven Mirage sold a record of 1,090 yearbooks. The book made many changes to try to conform to the school's wants and needs.

The photo silhouetted division pages with only one picture were used to add to the theme, "The involved Generation" and help carry it out throughout the book.

Stan Taylor took almost all the pictures for the '69 Mirage. He gained some experience by attending the Indiana University summer workshop for beginning photographers.

Sharon Silverman, editor-in-chief, learned more about yearbook production by attending the yearbook institute for editors at I.U.

The staff celebrated Christmas with a party at Miss Linda Gregory's, adviser, house. The dinner featured lasagne with and without cheese. Miss Gregory was presented with a black and white puppy called "Mirage" for a Christmas present.

The staff finished off the year with a picnic at Peggy Stumpf's house. The staff went swimming in the rain, played volleyball in the rain, and while they were soaking wet, ate dinner.

SC donations used to help needy people

School began in September, but Student Congress's duties started in August when plans for the Homecoming Parade were undertaken. The judges were chosen and all was set by the time Oct. 4 came.

The congress was especially concerned with needy families. Money from Homecoming was used to buy turkeys for four families in the community. Members also sponsored a family at Christmas, providing them with a tree, presents, food, and clothing. Other projects included supporting a child through the Christian Children's Fund and helping pay for New Haven OEA girls' expenses at the National Convention.

To replace the traditional Snowball hop, Student Congress initiated a Winter Whispers dance Feb. 1. Blue, green, and silver decorations formed winter scenes in the halls and cafeteria.

Student Congress had an orphans' Easter party featuring baskets, egg hunts, games, and food for everyone.

OEA, FBLA cover state for club conferences

Nell Servos pins an OEA greeting written in shorthand on Mr. Reynold's jacket to help celebrate National Secretaries Week.

State conferences were on the agenda for both the Office Education Association and the Future Business Leaders of America.

OEA, a new NHHS club, attended the OEA State Conference Jan. 25 at the State Teachers Association building in Indianapolis. The purpose was to elect state officers for the school year, and for the girls to become acquainted with other OEA members in the state.

March 28 Future Business Leaders of America attended the state convention at Ball State University in Muncie. The NHHS FBLA earned a first place in the scrapbook ratings.

FBLA also sponsored a Christmas party for 23 children of the St. Vincent Villa in the Cafeteria. Members brought gifts and served cookies and milk to the children.

The Woodlan Steno Lab students were guests of the New Haven OEA Dec. 17. Lincoln Life executive secretary Mary Bringman spoke to the girls on poise, charm, and attitude in doing office work.

Salt water experiments done by science section

Each section of science club pursued its own interests in 1969. The ichthyology section did experiments on fresh and salt water fish, while rocket section had its first underwater rocker launching.

The members of the psychology section that believed in the theory of ESP conducted tests on each other by using cards, colors, and odd shaped objects.

The ichthyology section raised money by selling sensitive plants that curl up when touched. The money went to pay for the aquariums used in experiments. This section found that sea horses, usually a salt water fish, survived in fresh water, and the fresh water guppies lived in salt water.

The astronomy section joined the Fort Wayne Astronomical Society to get inside information on the heavens. They also learned proper use of a telescope and even tried star-gazing at night.

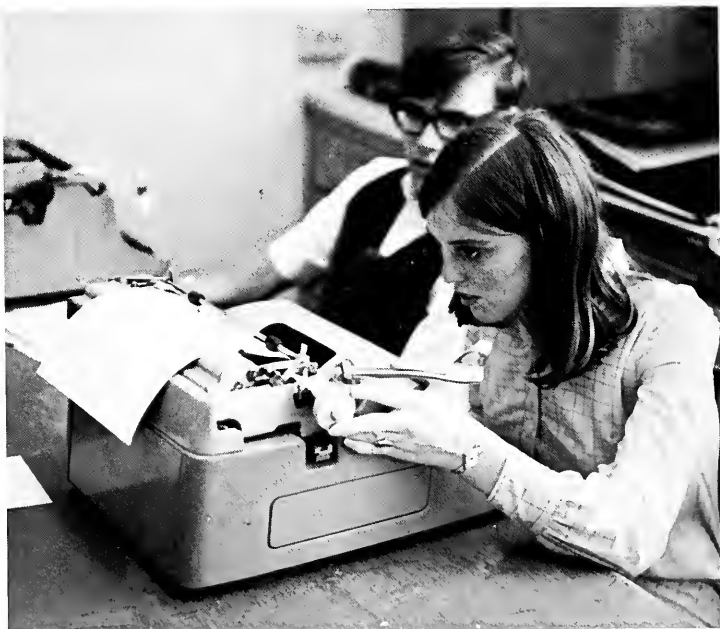

Rick Coker checks for good negatives to print in the Science Club darkroom.

Stan Taylor, photographic editor for the Mirage and Herald, sorts through the negatives to find the best pictures for printing.

Page editors Teresa Gotton, Kathy Merchant, and Nancy Shifley sort papers to complete sets for an up-to-date newspaper file.

Journalism class members Jim Boyer and Bev Hege work on stories for The Herald.

NH Herald earns first All-American

For the first time in three years of publishing, The New Haven Herald earned an All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association rating service of the University of Minnesota. This is the highest rating a high school newspaper can earn from the NSPA. The Herald was rated on coverage, content, page make-up, headlines, and photography.

Staff members worked on The Herald first period every day and pasted up the paper every Wednesday before the issue went to press. In December the journalism class started contributing to the paper by writing stories from their beats and collecting leads for other stories.

Editor-in-chief Peggy Stumpf attended the Indiana University editor's workshop to gain everyday newspaper knowledge.

Peggy also hosted the May 18 combined picnic for the Herald, Mirage, and Quill and Scroll.

Requirements for future jobs told to NHHS clubs

A windy business is taken on by Tam Keener, Mrs. Faulstick, and Cathy Zuercher as they prepare for FNC's Sadie Hawkins Dance booth.

Speakers from the community brought their ideas to Future Teachers and Future Nurses to help them plan for their professions.

Future Teachers listened to a counselor from the I.U.-Purdue Regional Campus discuss the requirements needed to become a teacher. A practical nurse, also from the Regional Campus, talked about the advantages of a career in dental technology.

At Christmas time, the Future Nurses Club gave coloring books and crayons to the pediatric section of Lutheran Hospital, while Future Teachers of America made favors for the teachers as they did every month of the school year.

FTA practiced their future careers by serving as teaching assistants helping teachers grade papers and record grades.

Both clubs ended their year with banquets at Hall's Smorgasbord, honoring the senior members.

The two outstanding seniors, Sue Hannic and Ramona Keller, were selected by FTA members and announced at the banquet.

March 14, New Haven's National Honor Society inducted 66 new members.

The number inducted reached an all-time high under new qualifications. The change allowed all students with "B" averages and junior or senior standing to be eligible. Teachers then rated each eligible person on scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

At the induction each officer gave a speech on one of the qualities of NHS. An informal tea honored new members and their parents in the Junior High Cafeteria following the induction ceremony.

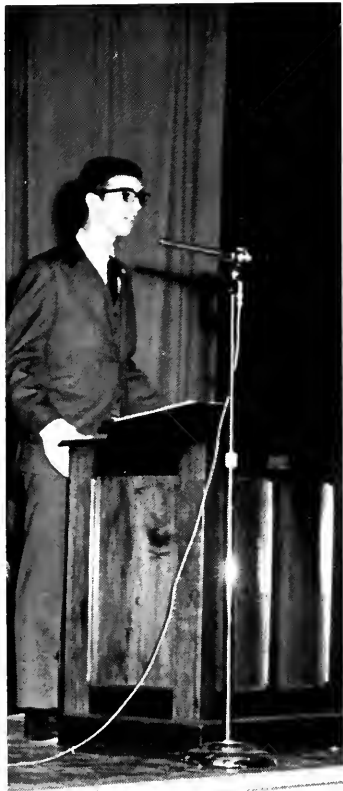

Mrs. JoAnn Lantz, former New Haven guidance counselor, was the main speaker at the National Honor banquet in April at the Sheraton Inn.

National Honor's last project of the year was a picnic May 1, planned by the juniors to initiate the old members.

Vision III finished the year with an awards picnic at Foster Park May 16.

Eleven new members were inducted into the national journalism honorary Quill and Scroll. The club that is two years old at New Haven has the following national requirements: The person must be at least a junior, he must be in the upper third of his class in scholastic standing, he must have done superior work in some phase of journalism or school publications work, and he must be recommended by the supervisor.

FCA Alumni game nets club $500

Fellowship of Christian Athletes was a new addition to the ranks of NHHS extra-curricular activities in 1969. FCA raised $500 on the alumni basketball game they sponsored Dec. 21, in the Boys' Gym. Alumni from 1955-67 were invited to play the faculty of NHHS. A game between the Village Woods Junior High faculty and the faculty of NHJHS preceded the alumni game.

FCA used the money earned from the game to send four members to a national FCA conference Aug. 3-5. The rest of the money was used to buy a bulletin board to put in front of the Boys' Gym.

May 14, Lettermen's Club sponsored an athletic banquet in the Cafeteria. The banquet featured Don Odle, coach at Taylor University.

NHHS Chess Club ranks 12 in state

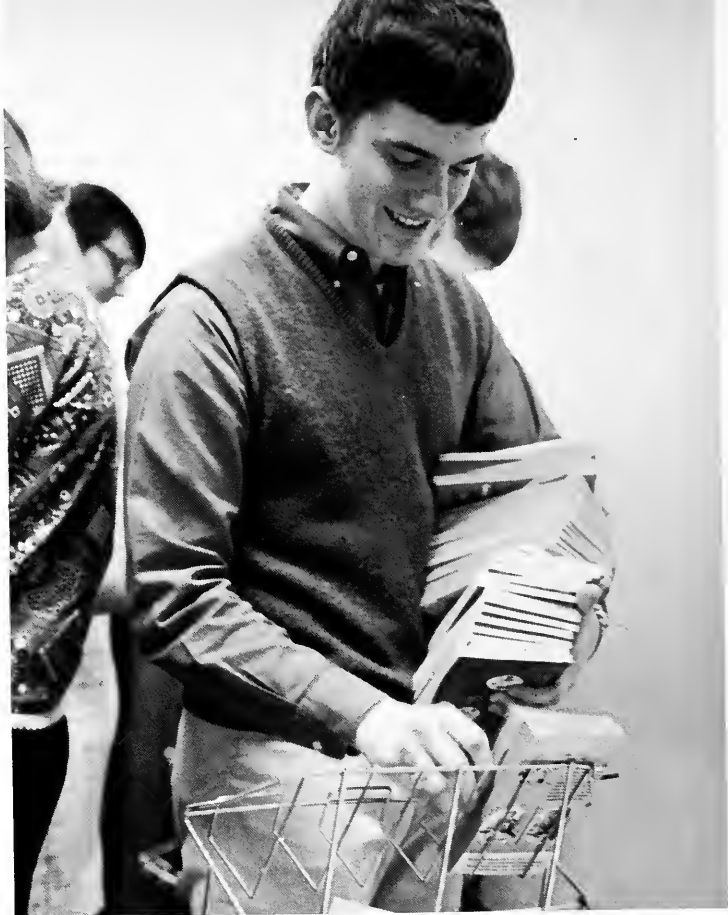

The 20-member Chess Club spent the year playing chess at their meetings. The meetings started with a lecture given by Mr. Stephen or one of the advanced members on beginning chess moves, tactics, and the basis of playing a good chess game.

The members continued to compete against each other to determine the four best players to represent the club at the Indiana State Chess tournament in Indianapolis. New Haven's team consisted of Robbie Gardiner, Rick Boester, John Shive, and Steve Clause. New Haven ranked 12th in the state.

Social Studies Club's meetings consisted of current event films and discussions afterward.

Clubs set 'B' average, give test for membership

As part of his Audio-Visual Club training, Jerry Chapman threads the projector for a class seeing a film.

Both Math and Audio-Visual Clubs have certain requirements for new members. Math Club requires that all applicants have a "B" average in all math courses. A test on the parts of a projector was given to all new members of A-V Club.

Audio-Visual Club didn't have specific meeting dates, but served the NHHS teachers by running projectors for teachers who didn't know how. They were also able to make minor repairs on the equipment.

At Math Club's general Thursday meetings, members gave speeches on phases of mathematics.

Math Club celebrated Christmas by having a tree in Mr. Schilling's room decorated with polygons, triangles, hexagons, and squares.

NHHS talent shown in '69 Happenings

Atheneum, or Library Club, brought a new club to New Haven and Fine Arts Club changed its name from Music Club and instilled a new purpose.

Atheneum Club members assisted the Library. The club presented the film "The Poppy is Also a Flower" Jan. 22 in the Girls' Gym.

Music Club became Fine Arts Club after the constitution was amended. Its new purpose was to stimulate fine arts at New Haven.

Nov. 13 Fine Arts Club went to see the "Apple Tree" at Ball State University in Muncie.

"Happening '69" was the name of the Fine Arts Talent Show. NFL cuttings, dancing, singing, guitar playing and a Dixieland combo were some of the talents at the show.

Atheneum Club also sponsored the annual book fair beginning April 21. The bookfair was conducted in accordance with National Library Week.

Soccer games unite French and Germans

The European sport, soccer, brought the New Haven German and French Clubs together for the first time on the playing field. They played a total of six games, which resulted in three German wins, two French wins, and one tie.

French Club spent much time earning money during the year. A lunch-time bake sale in the Cafeteria featured cookies, cakes, and candies. The club also sold NHHS class pins and purple and gold garters for Sectionals.

A ski weekend at Mount Wawasee was German Club's way of celebrating Christmas. The club left early Sunday morning and spent the day learning to ski.

French Club ended the year with a banquet at Cafe Johnell where true French cuisine was served. The banquet was covered by WANE-TV as a human interest story.

The NHHS Latin Club wedding closely resembled an authentic Roman wedding of old. The husband stole the wife from her family, this was followed by a nighttime torch-light processional through the streets escorting the bride and groom to their new home. The refreshments after the ceremony included a Latin wedding cake made of lard and grape wine.

Following the January meeting the seniors put on a Roman fashion show. They modeled togas, tunics, pallas, footwear, jewelry, hairstyles, and soldier's garb.

Latin club finished the year with an April 20 banquet complete with slaves and a Latin laugh-in.

Both Varsity Choir and Girls' Glee Club attended the Northern Indiana School Band Orchestra and Vocal Association State Choir Contest.

Swing Choir makes 32 personal appearances

Mr. Carl Nicholas, Choir Director, presents Larry Goshorn his silver key for two years participation in choral activities at New Haven.

Concert Choir and Swing Choir spent most of their time making personal appearances in 1969.

Some of Concert Choir's appearances were for the Indiana State Teacher's Convention, Christ Child Pageant, Christmas Convocation, Veteran's Hospital, and the Easter Convocation.

Swing Choir made personal appearances at 32 concerts for social and civic groups in the area.

Students from all the choral departments tried to track down prospective magazine buyers during the annual magazine sale.

The profit from the magazines helped pay for many of the trips taken to concert destinations during the year. The money also paid for cleaning the 200 choir robes.

May 13 the Choral department had its annual banquet in the Cafeteria. Outstanding members plaques were awarded to Jackie Ulm and John Oberlin in Concert Choir. Gold Keys were awarded for three years participation in choral activities. Silver keys were given for two, and bronze keys for one year participation.

MR. RONALD WADE—English IV-V—Future Teachers of America

give teachers puttering time

Being a teacher requires much time and effort, but NH teachers are able to find time for hobbies and personal and professional interests.

Many NH teachers enjoy playing bridge, and some of the more active men teachers enjoy outdoor sports, such as fishing, golfing, and boating. Several of the teachers claim that what they enjoy most of all is spending time with their families.

Several of New Haven's teachers are active in civic organizations. Miss Harriet Daniels was president of Fort Wayne's Business and Professional Women's Club, and Mrs. Virginia West is regional representative for Indiana Business Education Association. Mr. Milton Sinn is active as a church treasurer.

Thirty-five of New Haven's teachers went to Indianapolis Feb. 23 to ask for better educational facilities and more money to operate the state schools. More than 15,000 Hoosier teachers attended.

Working with old clocks is a favorite pastime for Mr. Keith Hunnings. This antique clock has been in his family for more than a hundred years.

HIGH SCHOOL SECRETARIES—Miss Barb Snyder, Mrs. Carol Symonds, Mrs. Iona Richhart, Mrs. Imogene Brubaker.

Mr. Neil Hendrickson, head custodian, does his part to keep New Haven clean by polishing the floor.

Non-teaching staff of 21 keeps school going

It takes four high school secretaries, eleven cooks, one nurse, and five custodians to keep New Haven running smoothly every school day.

More than 1,000 students a month kept Mrs. Marie Perrin, the school nurse, quite busy. She dispensed over 7,000 aspirin and 2,000 lozenges, and applied 900 adhesive bandages.

The high school secretaries do much more each day than type letters and answer the phone. They are kept busy balancing club treasury books and keeping track of attendance.

This year the cooks served about 850 students daily. The students had their choice of buying the plate lunch for $.40 or getting their lunch from the ala carte line.

The school was maintained by the custodians who worked around the clock in two shifts to polish floors, paint rooms, and make repairs throughout the school physical plant.

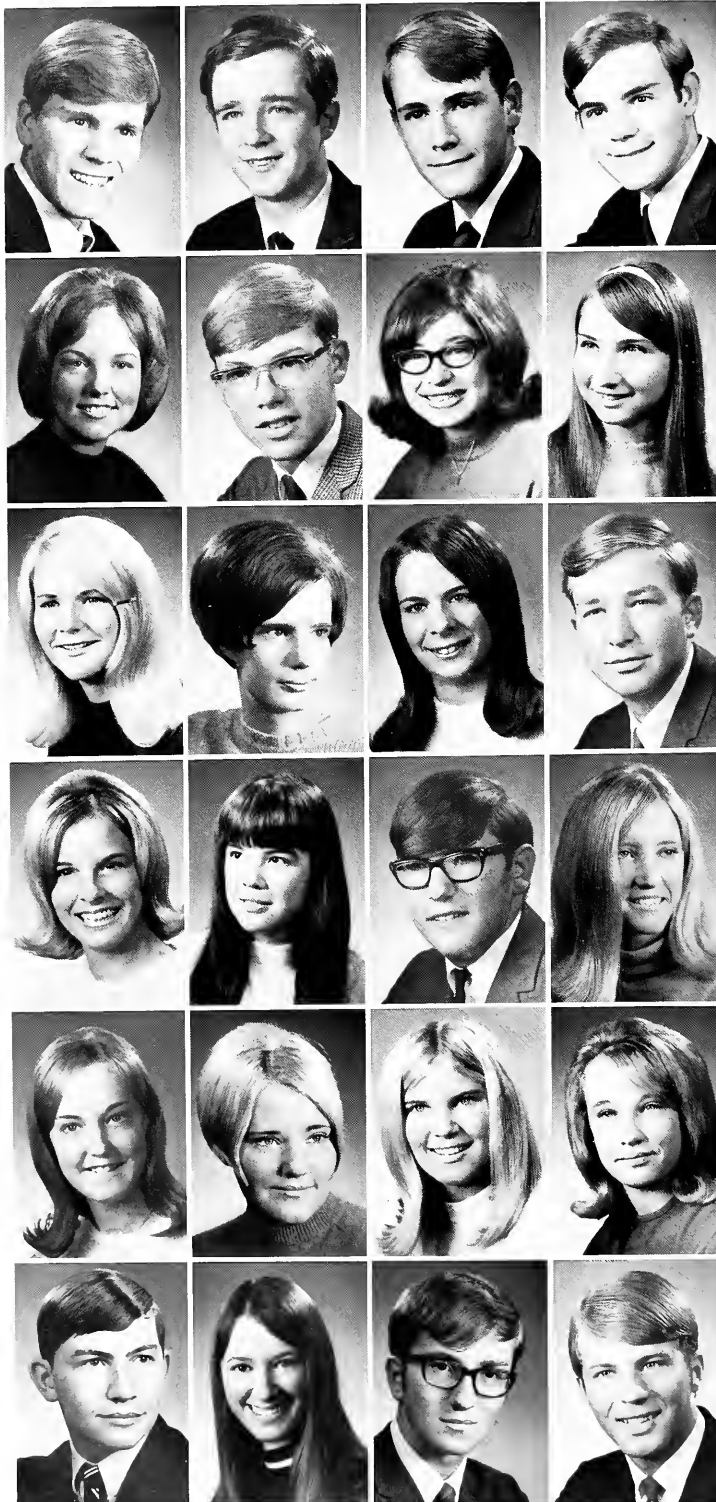

Mrs. Marie Perrin, nurse, fills out necessary reports after treating each student.

Mr. Dick Lake, custodian, polishes the fire extinguisher to make sure everything is in good working condition.

HIGH SCHOOL COOKS—(Front row) Mrs. Margaret Okuly, Mrs. Helen Jones, Mrs. Dorothy Bearman, Mrs. Margaret Suciu, Mrs. Carol Frosch. (Row two) Mrs. Hilda Schnelker, Mrs. Loretta Claypool, Mrs. Edith Hanefeld, Mrs. Ocie Miller, Mrs. Mildred Bowers, Mrs. Carolyn Drayer, Mrs. Agnes Jacquay.

May 25, 402 seniors get diplomas

At 7:30 P.m., May 25, 1969, 402 seniors from New Haven High School graduated at the War Memorial Coliseum in Fort Wayne.

The Rev. Paul Keck was the speaker for baccalaureate. The Concert Choir sang "The Lord is My Shepherd," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and the service closed with the "Benediction."

The speaker for the commencement was Ray Monsalvatge of Dayton, Ohio. His speech centered on the theme "Uncork Your Hidden Talents." He was a funny philosopher, mixing his exceptional memory with good stories.

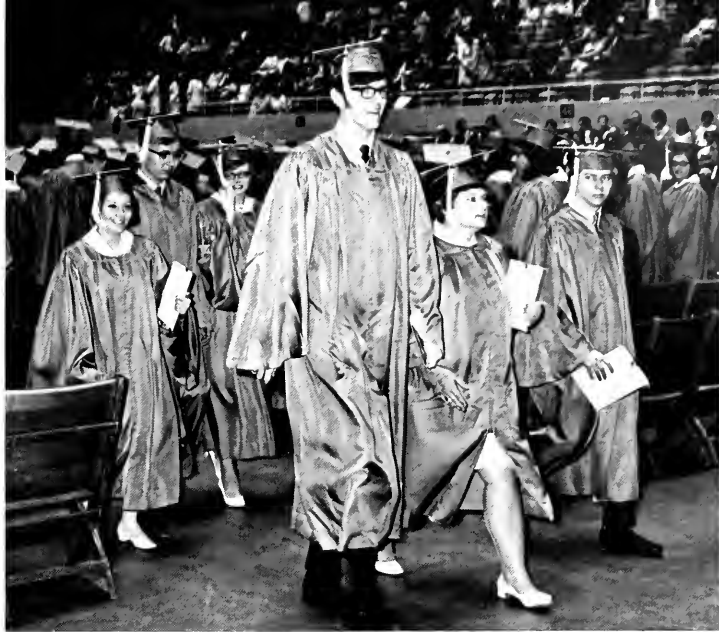

To make sure Marsha Love looks just right when she receives her diploma, Cathy Lahrman straightens the back of her hair.

Some seniors find that returning the gowns after graduation is the hardest part.

Together as a class for the last time, Seniors march in to the music of "Pomp and Circumstance."

With diploma in hand, seniors leave the Coliseum much faster than they entered.

Joyce Oehler gives one last tug at her cap to make sure it is on straight before lining up.

Making sure his car will shine for his prom date is junior Mark Ringenberg.

PROM COURT—Bill Shumaker, Jackie Snyder, Pete Mallers, Jackie Ulm, Joyce Siegers (queen), Rob Davis (king), Carol Baker, Ted Wall, Kathy Taylor, Doug Lohse.

Now Mark Ringenberg has made the big change from washing his car to having his prom picture taken with his date Jan Richhart.

Dancing to the song in their honor are queen Joyce Siegers and king Rob Davis.

Juniors came back from "Beyond Their Dreams" long enough to clean the Scottish Rite Ballroom.

Decorations make couples feel dreamy

May 3, 1969, from 9 until midnight New Haven couples danced to the music of Dick Siegers and his Orchestra at the Junior-Senior prom, "Beyond Our Dreams."

The Scottish Rite Ballroom was decorated to make the couples feel like they were dreaming. Gifts of charms for the girls and tie tacks for the boys were given to senior couples as a remembrance of the prom.

The prom court was elected by junior and senior homerooms. When the court was announced juniors and seniors again voted for prom king and queen.

The theme song for the prom was "Out of My Dreams." This song was from the musical "Oklahoma." The after-prom party, sponsored by junior parents, was at Goeglein's Barn from 1 a.m. until 4. The theme of the after prom party was "Happiness Is."

Decorations for the after-prom centered on Charlie Brown characters, and "The Enchantments" provided the music.

Food at the after-prom included hamburgers, potato chips, sandwiches, relish trays, cake, and pop.

Dusting off their trophies are Valedictorian Debbie Springer, Bob Humphreys and Betsy Goehring, co-salutatorians.

NHHS students represent New Haven in community

Bob Humphreys, winner of the Rotary Award, shows Karen Fracassini, winner of the Daughters of the American Revolution Award, where his name will be engraved.

Students from New Haven represented the school well in the community. Aside from just participating, New Havenites moved ahead to win many awards. The American Legion Awards, valedictorian and salutatorians, DAR, and Rotary are just a few, but these not only credit the individual, but also the school.

The American Legion is the backer of numerous awards and scholarships for New Haven students. The American Legion, sends the students going to Girls' and Boys' State, and awards many honors to graduating seniors for outstanding achievement.

The Daughters of the American Revolution test is given to anyone interested at their own high school. The social studies teachers make up the test and the person with the highest score represents the school.

The Rotary award is presented to the Junior Rotarian with the highest scholastic average.

Classes pay dues and plan dances

Underclassmen started off the year by electing officers and class councils, collecting dues and trying to make Homecoming floats.

In the 1968 Homecoming, the Junior Class took first place in float competition with their float "Chew 'Em Up." The sophomores won third place with "Ding, Dong, the Hot Dog's Dead."

The Junior Class sponsored an after-game Christmas dance in the Girls' Gym. Live music was provided by the "Story" and a visit from St. Nick himself completed the celebration.

May 3, the Junior Class sponsored the Prom, "Beyond our Dreams," for the Senior Class at the Scottish Rite Auditorium.

The Junior Class sponsored a Christmas dance under the direction of class officers Kathy Taylor (treas.), Jan Richhart (v-p), Kathi Williams (pres.), and Tami Zimmerman (sect.).

Sophomore officers—Grant Wylie (v-p), Paula Groves (treas.), Gerry Gaskill (sect.), and Linda Burczak (pres.)—check class dues roster.

Larry Ketzler, junior, prepares for his driver's test with some last minute cramming.

Juniors Jim Kratzat, Sandy Roemer, and Jim McRae sign up to fill vacancies on committees for the Junior-Senior Prom.

1969 Mirage

To the involved generation of New Haven High School it can be said that this is your year. This is telling it like it is—like it or not. But to tell the story of the year is a job that requires much time, sweat, tears, and results in a lot of memories.

This book would not have been possible without the work done by Stan Taylor, for what would a year-book be without pictures? Stan, now is the only time to apologize for Saturday morning and Sunday pictures: I know you usually had only three hours sleep before taking most pictures. Still it will be hard for me to forget the long-cuts you took during sixth period when you went to take an ad picture. Stan, your humor lightened up the journalism room and we all feel privileged when you let us come into "your" office.

Thanks are due to Sue Sams and Judy Overholt both of you are talented girls in your own way. Also you both have your own goals, follow them, but also work for the yearbook next year because you both have a lot to contribute. Sue, a word to the wise, "Don't go traveling too much."

Thanks are also due to Jan Asher, Kathy Poorman, Linda Stellhorn, and Trish Janson, for your labor and making things lively sixth period.

To a great sports editor, Don Wharton, there is only thing to say—you really know how to move the cabinet when you need to find a picture ect., ect., ect.

The greatest factfinder I know is my sister, Illene Silverman, without you there would be no organization section in the 1969 Mirage. Don't think I didn't notice the hours you spent on the phone setting up pictures and getting copy information. Most of all I want to thank you for being a little sister and tolerating me even in my worst moments of frustration.

With Bob Brown and Kathy Klenke doing the ad section it went real smooth and the ads sold in record breaking time. A great deal of thanks is due to both of you.

Being able to tolerate a dumb editor that couldn't learn how to use a proportion rule is an attribute of Miss

Linda Gregory, alias the Queen. I kept telling you that we would meet the deadline and here we are finished five days early. It has been a real experience working with you for the past three years and never knowing what to expect—but now I know that we are both leaving and it is off to I.U.

Thanks also to Larry Glaze of Paragon Press for your friendly visits and good ideas. To Mr. Walker of House of Photography, thanks for all your Fridays, Saturdays, and weekdays, also an apology for making you walk to the top of the coliseum for the graduation pictures.

For my poor parents that had to pay the gas bill for me driving to school everyday, I can only say thanks. I also know that sometimes it got hard to sleep at night with the typewriter banging at two o'clock in the morning, but it is all over now and things can return to "normal."

Last, but not least, I would like to thank Richard Eugene Hoagland, 1968 Mirage editor, for teaching me practically everything I know. I'll never forget all the good times we had putting together the Mirage and it never seemed quite right without you here this year, but somehow we managed. Thanks for being an individual.

This is the end of one more year that will pass on as all the rest and only we will notice the difference.
